What do we have to offer?

- We could reflect – and help our clients reflect – on far more than our personal or professional experiences.
- We could also reflect on our societal responsibility and on the (virtualized) conditions under which we provide our services
- We could help out clients to do the same in their particular personal, civil and professional situations
- As supervision and coaching are reflective trades, we can – and should - do just that.

If we can do all that, what should we do?

- Activate and monitor our professional organizations
- Activate and monitor our politicians
- In short: act as responsible citizens and professionals (see Hannah Arendt)
